

Conduit For Crazyness

Pretty proud of it, too! Let's face it: It's bad out there, but we're all in this together. And while the spread of this virus is super scary, the world is using humor to curb its spread. How refreshing to see that even during difficult/depressing/dreary times, people continue to use creativity and humor to help us all out. Thank you, world of wonderfully crazy people!